

Blessed Three Ways

A house with girls is blessed three ways
and all boys who live in such a house know what I mean because a house with girls is blessed three ways

With beauty that will always charm you and take your breath away

With love that girls show so well as they watch out for you

With the skills that girls have to teach you the ways of family and memory

A house with girls is blessed three ways
and now you have three girls in yours.

E.F.P.
7/10/01

A poem for Peter Jacobson and his father Eric, on the occasion of the birth of Peter's new sister Emma Anne, who joins his older sister Katherine, and his mother, Elizabeth.

